Another big deal is the Open-Sourcing of the Flex framework.

With Javascript you get something that is at the level of ActionScript 1 without strong typing, loads of dynamic object access and a clutter of files that lie around openly on your server.

Trying to keep the loaded audio and play it back later results in an invalid Bytearray.

Seems it wasn t even tested properly.

But have they asked the Flash programmers if we actually want to have Flash exchanged with HTML5.

Neither does it seem to matter for their CEOs and marketing managers that JS and HTML is one giant jumble of incoherent, unoptimized mess that lacks any OOP structure and that no decent game developer on earth wants to code with.
